JCA's cultural arts fest to have a little something for everyone

BY SHERRIE SAAG
JCA Cultural Arts Festival

The JCA's Jewish Literary, Film and Arts Festival begins Nov. 2 and brings a variety of opportunities for the community to enjoy Jewish books, authors, movies, music and theater. Described as "something for everyone", this year's lineup was planned to educate, entertain and inspire with great Jewish cultural offerings.

Opening night, at 7 p.m., brings two accomplished humorists to the JCA to share their hilarious parody of the Haggadah, "For this We Left Egypt?" Florida native and Miami Herald syndicated columnist Dave Barry joins his friend and co-author Alan Zweibel, a five-time Emmy winner and original Saturday Night Live writer.

On Sunday, Nov. 5 at 2 p.m., "Angels in the Sky" author and former Navy fighter pilot Robert Gaird shares the harrowing tale of volunteer airmen who fought for Israel during its War of Independence. The Festival augments Sunday's subject matter with a screening of the film, "Above and Beyond" at 3:30 p.m. "Angels in the Sky" was released Oct. 3 and will be available for purchase at the Festival's Pop-Up Bookstore in the JCA lobby.

A panel discussion format is planned on Tuesday, Nov. 7, when Academy Award winner and USC Professor Steven J. Ross shares his chilling, little-known-but-absolutely-true story of a Jewish spy operation that infiltrated Nazi and fascist groups in Hollywood during WWII. Ross will welcome a Q&A after his presentation to examine the

Federation's Finance Director flies to Israel to see Jacksonville's dollars at work

BY PAT BURKE

Recently, the Finance and Technical Professional Institute (FTPI), which includes finance and IT professionals from Jewish Federations across North America, completed a weeklong tour of Israel. It was the first time the group had toured the country in a dozen years, as FTPI participants traditionally meet each year in different U.S. cities for training and networking.

As the representative from the Jacksonville Federation, I am pleased to report the trip was a huge success and a true adventure for all participants. Packed into six days were stops in Tel Aviv, Haifa, Galilee, the Golan Heights, the Dead Sea and Jerusalem. We had 110 participants riding in three tour buses, and each day was unique. It was a wonderful trip that included an intimate look at Israel's ancient history with the nation's current day activities.

Over the course of the trip, we saw incredible activities happening in Israel. Among our many stops, we visited three schools, several small businesses, and a medical facility which are recipients of funding through our Federation's allocations. The schools are seeing excellent results working with at-risk kids, while the medical facility is doing incredible work with the disabled, and the businesses would not have survived if it weren't for the special loan funds. It was great to see the many success stories of the programs that benefitted from our annual campaign dollars.

In recounting the ancient history of Israel, we toured the Jaffa port area (Tel Aviv), the Sea of Galilee, Masada (in the Judean Desert), and the Old City in

UF's Price Library of Judaica houses priceless pieces of local and international artifacts

Nestled in between Criser and Anderson Halls on the Campus of the University Florida in Gainesville is a complex and vast look into the history of the Jewish people. The books, artifacts and information found in this place known as the Isser and Rae Price Library of Judaica can be found past the reading room on the second floor of Smathers Library (commonly referred to as "Library East"). With holdings of more than 120,000 volumes, and digital collections comprising more than 180,000 pages of content, the Judaica Suite is considered the foremost Jewish studies research collection in the southeastern United States. In terms of many of its scarce late 19th to early 20th century imprints, it ranks among the top 20 academic libraries in the world. Furthermore, many thousands of titles in Hebrew and Yiddish are held by less than 10 libraries in the United States.

"Those who come here get a real taste of Jewish history because the library is visually and intellectually inspiring as well as informative," said Dr. Rebecca Jefferson, who is the head of the library and its collection. "You go on a sort of journey through time, seeing Jewish history starting in the 16th century and then coming into the 19th century when there was a massive output of Jewish publication before the period of destruction."

The library was built on the core collection of Rabbi Leonard C. Mishkin of Chicago which, at the time of its acquisition in 1977, was the largest personal library of Judaica and Hebraica in the United States. The range and depth of Mishkin's collection was described by Harvard Bibliographer Charles Berlin as 'superb'. Formally dedicated in March 1981, the Library was named for Isser and Rae Price, whose sons, Jack and Samuel Price of Jacksonville, Florida, established a fund to support sustained development of its collections. The Price family gift was the largest single gift ever

Barbara Parker

25 years ago the River Garden Foundation Board of Trustees wanted to create an elegant community event to establish the Foundation's identity and promote River Garden/Wolfson Health and Aging Center in the community.
